

THE TALK IN CONGRESS.

FREE COINAGE IN THE SENATE AND PENSION IN THE HOUSE.

Senator Mills Attacks the President's Financial Policy and Refers to Washington as the Political President—Peffer Praises the Foreman of the Political Millennium—Ex-Speaker Grow Informs the Administration that It Has No Right to Interfere in Pending Legislation in Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Senate listened today to two long speeches attacking the financial policy of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury. The first was made by Mr. Mills (Dem., Tex.), and the second by Mr. Peffer (Rep., Kan.). Mr. Mills' speech was bitterly denunciatory of the national banking system, and was an arraignment of the financial policy of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury. He spoke on the resolution offered by him yesterday in favor of the coinage of silver and for other purposes. He expressed his regret at having to differ with the President in his recommendation to fund the greenbacks and Treasury notes in interest-bearing bonds, and declared that that course was contrary to that of all the parties who had elected Presidents. The President, he said, told Congress that there was something really good, extremely good, to come from placing a debt of $15,000,000 a year on bonds and $35,000,000 a year on the Treasury notes. Mr. Mills had always understood that a national debt was an evil and a misfortune, which deprived a country of its strength in time of peace, and especially in time of war. On this point he contrasted the views of President Cleveland with those of President Washington, a patriotic President, not a political President. He said who recommended the payment of the existing national debt and the avoidance of new debts.

Summing up the views expressed by Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Van Buren, Buchanan, and other great men of the past, Mr. Mills said that it had been the Democratic policy from the organization of the party to pay the public debt and to keep the resources of the country from being encumbered by taxation. "Shall now," he said, "we go back to the old course, and both fortify and keep a moneyed aristocracy in this country and stop the main effort to maintain from the people the right of their property to their children?"

"That duty," he said, "goes before the country in the coming campaign, and that has the honesty to write in the platform of the party, and to maintain a public debt as a national asset, and to build a national banking system, will be averted only by a course of self-denial."

The House bill, with the silver substitute reported from the Finance Committee, was then taken up, and Mr. Peffer (Rep., Kan.) addressed the House in support of the bill. He argued in favor of the maintenance of the parity between gold and silver, and said: "When the Populists made a political movement, they were not unopposed. They were opposed by the party that party satisfactorily at least to some people."

"That will be," Mr. Peffer (Rep., Mass.) remarked, "after the millennium." "The millennium," he said, "is not a religious belief, but a political one. It is the coming in power of the Populists, which will be the times spoken of in the Revelations, when the millennium is over, and the world will be free."

"We are the revolution," Mr. Peffer exclaimed, and then went on with his speech. Although Mr. Peffer spoke for two hours and a quarter, he did not conclude his speech until he had spoken for two hours and a quarter. He said that the coming in power of the Populists will be the times spoken of in the Revelations, when the millennium is over, and the world will be free.

The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday. The most striking event of to-day's proceedings in the House occurred just previous to adjournment. The venerable ex-Speaker, Galusha A. Grow, Representative at-Large from Pennsylvania, moved there by a colloquy between Mrs. Pickens (Rep., S. C.) and Mr. Stoughton (Rep., Pa.) as to the probable action of the President upon a general revision of the pension laws, protested earnestly against the encroachment by the head of the Executive Department of the Government, or by any of his clerks, upon the prerogatives of the House. He referred especially to the case of the late Senator of Congress, of a bill headed "The Secretary of the Treasury's bill," and to the reading of a letter from the President by Representative Wilson, just as the House was about to vote upon the tariff bill. This House owes it to itself," he said, "to make the President understand that he has nothing to do with the action of this legislative body till a bill formally presented is presented to him for his approval. Only in that connection can he be said to express his approval or disapproval."

The great part of the session was devoted to the discussion of the Pension Appropriation bill, various Republican members criticizing the administration of the House. Mr. Stoughton (Dem., N. Y.) united with his colleague, Cummings, in assuring the House that the Democrats of New York would support the liberal pension policy. He invoked the chivalry of the members from the North, which he said would never be amended to win, and for the bill and the amendment proposed by the committee, and thereby add to the pension and the rights of those who had met them in the field in open and honorable conflict.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Mr. W. A. Steiwer (Rep., Pa.) in charge of the bill, gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the adjournment of the House for five minutes, with a view to reaching a vote before adjournment.

In the morning hour the House adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) from Elections Committee No. 2, confirming the right of George H. Thomas to the seat he holds in the House as the Representative from the western district of Kentucky, the contest therefor having been abandoned by Robert H. Chesbro, the Republican candidate. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow, with the understanding that the adjournment to-morrow will be till Monday.

Readjustment of our firm interests requires an immediate sale of all our Winter stock.

This is of interest only to those who appreciate good Tailoring.

We've been in Merchants Tailoring some forty years. Garments bearing our label are known all over the country for quality, style and durability.

Good garments are really the only kind worth buying. Good Tailors charge high prices—what they make is worth it.

We are turning our ready-made stock into money to facilitate a readjustment of firm interests. We have decided to turn over all our finer piece goods stock as well.

This is something never before done at this store, but we believe it to be good business to do it now even if we do lose a little money by it.

SUITS AT $25. Made from Martin's—Clay's—Lodge's—Sykes' and the best west of England suitings that were $35 to $45.

TROUSERS AT $8. Of the finest English striped Worsted Trouserings from the looms of Roberts of Selkirk, Martin of Leeds, Sykes of Huddersfield, Leeds, which we have always sold for $12 and $14.

Here is an opportunity to very profitably visit probably the best Merchant Tailoring quarters in New York. Best of pure daylight. Best of goods. Best of service.

E. O. THOMPSON

Finest Merchant Tailoring

245 BROADWAY

Opp. City Hall Park, cor. Murray st. 907

DIPLOMATS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

The President Welcomes the New Ministers from Ecuador and Russia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Two diplomatic representatives of foreign countries were personally received by the President to-day, Señor Luis Felipe Carbo, the new Minister from Ecuador, reached the White House at 10:30, and was presented to the President by Secretary of State Olney. The new Minister from Russia, Mr. Ignatiev, was received by the President at 11:30.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Carbo, who is 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

Mr. Ignatiev, who is 52 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. He admitted that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that he had been a member of the Russian revolution.

MRS. HARTELL'S DEFENCE.

SHE DENIES THE CHARGE AND ORIGIN "PERSECUTION."

Her Lawyer Says the Arrest Was Caused by Parkhurst Agents Because She Would Not Testify Against McLaughlin. The testimony in the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Hartell before Recorder Goff in the General Sessions yesterday tended to show that the disorderly house to have been kept by her at 70 and 72 Eldridge street was inhabited and frequented by persons of the most depraved order. Assistant District Attorney O'Hara continued to produce witnesses who gave evidence of a most damaging character against the accused woman. After Parkhurst Agent Van Ryn and Roundsman O'Brien of the Essex Market Court squad had testified as to the character of the house, Lizzy Hartell, the wife of Ferdinand Hansen, told how she and her husband had conducted the housekeeping for Mrs. Hartell. She said that she was paid for her services by Mrs. Hartell at times, and on other occasions by Dr. Timothy N. Holden, who had one child left by the late Hansen, and admitted that she had lived with him three years before the married him. She had three children since. Hansen was recalled by Mr. O'Hara. He testified that he was serving as a soldier in the regular army when he met the woman he afterward married, and that he was married to her in 1872. He said he was married to her in 1872, and that he was married to her in 1872.

"And after you were legally married you permitted your wife to go to work in a disorderly house when she was about to become a mother," asked Lawyer Levy.

"She went there in an honest manner. She was employed as a cook. She got her situation through a woman of the name of Fannie, who peddles women."

"Peddles women?" exclaimed Recorder Goff. "What do you mean by that?"

"Well, a woman who procures other women for disorderly houses."

"A procuress, in other words," said the Recorder.

"Yes, sir," Hansen said he had testified against Police- man Frank Hahn, who was accused of running the disorderly house with Mrs. Hartell before President Roosevelt. Hahn was dismissed from the force on Hansen's testimony. Mr. O'Hara rested the case for the prosecution with Hansen's evidence.

Mr. Levy said, in opening for the defence, that the charge was the result of a spite on the part of certain Parkhurst agents, who were charged against Inspector McLaughlin. The woman took the stand in her own behalf. She is a tall, thin woman of middle age, with a face that was dressed in a black silk dress, with a heavy fur-trimmed cape.

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

"She was 42 years old, and had lived in this city for twenty-three years. She admitted that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution, and that she had been a member of the Russian revolution."

Art Sales and Exhibitions.

American Art Galleries,

Madison Square, South, New York.

On Free View

9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

The Art Collection of

MR. N. Q. POPE.

Modern

Paintings

BY CELEBRATED

Foreign and American

Artists,

Chinese Porcelains, Jade,

European Bronzes, Statuary, and Bric-a-brac.

Also, Rare Tiger, Bear, and

Turkish Rugs, Elegant Library and Drawing Room

Furniture, including a number of especially fine

Cabinets in Carved Oak